

Dear friends and family,

You may know about my involvement at Camp Daniel, a camp for people with disabilities, over the last few years. I have served as a summer missionary intern, as well as a counselor and worker multiple weeks a year since I was 14. This year was different as I only planned on going for one week of camp, but after that week I ended up quitting my job. Although it was not my intention, this allowed me to go to camp for three more weeks. I had a plan for what I was going to do over the next year and it was all starting to come together when I realized that God was taking my life in a different direction. I have decided to move to Camp Daniel for the next year as a Year Long Missionary Intern. I will be living in a group home on the Camp Daniel campus with four other interns, as well as “The Guys”, who each have developmental delays and live and work at camp.

The Camp Daniel community is like a family; people with and without disabilities working together to love more strongly and develop better relationships with each other. Camp is a place that allows everyone to feel accepted, while also giving them a place to grow and learn. It is a great example of how God wants us to live in community and love unconditionally. Being involved at Camp Daniel has pushed me beyond my limits, allowing me to grow as a leader and in my relationship with God. I know this year will be a good opportunity for me to work on myself, grow up a little more, and teach me to shine brighter, all while helping others to do the same.

This year, the interns will be doing a lot of work to finish construction of Camp Daniel’s new grounds. For the last twenty-two years, they have had summer camps at a different campus while building their own fully-accessible campground that caters to camp’s exact needs. This is the last phase of major construction, and next year we will finally have camp at the new camp! I am excited to be a part of finishing construction on the grounds, as well as being involved with camp’s other ministries. We will help out at The Hub, a local youth group not attached to any church. We will also be a part of Able Church, a church for people with disabilities in Green Bay, and will help out with Special Olympics. It is a blessing to be involved in all these things with the group of interns that I will be living and working with.

The Year Long Internship is a missionary experience, and just like all the staff at Camp Daniel, I will rely on monetary support to raise $600 per month for rent, food, gas, and other living expenses from September 2019 to August 2020. If you are willing to donate, I ask for monthly support or one-time donations of any amount. Each dollar will help. Although the process of asking for money makes me uncomfortable, this entire internship is a leap of faith for me and I trust that God will provide what I need. Whether or not you are able to support financially, I ask for your prayers during this year-long journey. I will also be sending out a newsletter to tell about what I am doing at camp during the year. I thank you for any kind of support you can offer, and I am excited to be a part of this amazing organization over the next year.

With love,
Dillon Crawford
